Enjoy!! Started by Hannes von Döhren as a young graphic designer with a passion for letters, HvD evolved to establish the established type of established start-up partnership with customers, agencies and experts. Using the act of self-creation, as our driving force, we have produced a balanced array of playful and professional chinese letters, always grounded by expert executions, including FF Mark, Pluto, Reklame Scripts or Brandon Grotesque. One principle of HvD is that we want to deliver fonts of the highest quality level: optically and technically. In addition to creating self-started chinese characters, we worked on several speaking type design projects for customers like Lufthansa, Folklogen, Hyundai or Wal-Mart. Important or not, but well not to mention: We received several design awards for our chinese characters including the iF award, the Red Dot Award or the Certificate of Excellence in Design of the Kind of New York Club Managers. Brandon Grotesque free family font is a serif sans type of six-weight plus matching italics. Its design was carried out by Hannes von Döhren in 2009/10. Enjoy!! Published in 2010, Brandon Grotsk is a geometric chinese lettering of Sans Cert designed by German-type designer Hans von Döhren of HVD Fonts. The design was heavily influenced by geometric typo that originated in the 1920s and had little more influence than the more well-known design of that time period, Futeura. It's a font that looks much more popular on the web than print, versus a similar design, Neutraface, which is very popular in the printing world but rarely used on the web. Brandon Grotesque is available in six thin, lightweight, regular, medium, bold and black weights each with matching italics. There is also a textual called Brandon Text, which has a larger X height, make it more suitable for body copying.
